

Trade – Ross Roses Direct

Ross Roses is primarily a retail rose nursery selling our plants direct to customers Australia wide. Our customers purchase roses from our extensive list of over 700 varieties including the largest selection of Australian developed and landscaping varieties.

On occasions we do get asked to supply large volumes of plants at wholesale prices. Ross Roses do have a trade division supplying roses primarily to landscapers, councils and corporations.

Plants can be produced for any required project if ordered prior to our budding season (October) and if selected from our list of available varieties. We can also use our unrivaled knowledge of all rose varieties we stock to help with plant placement and colour blending.
